A Note from the Director:

Dear Audience:

Playwright Matt Cox dedicates his hilarious Potter-parody, Puffs: Or Seven Increasingly Eventful Years at a Certain School of Magic & Magic, to “anyone not destined for greatness”. Perhaps you identify? It might seem all the luck and attention goes to someone else, or you always feel in the background of someone else’s story? You might work hard, struggle to improve, and are met again and again by a brick wall. Although I identify as a Ravenclaw, I very much recognize this Puffiness in myself. I have to remind myself that I matter in this world. I am my own story.

By the way, you also matter in this world, too. As Second Headmaster might say, your story is also “pretty cool”.

Puffs has given our Guilders many opportunities, not just in the numerous roles it provides, but the freedom Matt Cox encourages to explore and reinvent the show. We did lots of improv games, and there are many improvised sections in the show. While this could be challenging and daunting, Guilders have risen to the occasion. They should be proud of themselves!

Many thanks to Rob Frankel, volunteer parents, and student crew who put together set and props. Victoria Capitano and Amit Keshet have yet again stage-managed magnificently, being at both rehearsals and set/ prop builds. Thank you, Courtney Cato and Asher Friedman, for leading our lighting crew; and Evan Titus for leading sound (the screaming egg is most excellent). Thank you, Bob Johnson and Helena MacKendrick, for your help and enthusiasm! To our Guilders who dedicated time and joy to being swings—you made the process smooth and I saw a lot of growth in your craft during rehearsals. Bravo!

Behind many a Guilder is a doting adult; thank you parent volunteers for your dedication and time to make things happen behind the scenes. Thank you everyone who helped with hospitality, construction, ads, tickets, and all the things one might not realize must take place to bring a show to fruition. Kim Six, you did an amazing job with costumes! So.many.robos.

I hope you, the audience, will laugh, cry and cheer with us during the performance.

THIRD OR NOTHING!

Great Valley Music Parents Association

Congratulations!

The GVMPA wishes to congratulate the student-musicians participating in the Desmond Project. We look forward to seeing you use the skills you have learned here in the years to come.

What We Do

The GVMPA supports music students and their teachers at GVHS, GVMS and Great Valley elementary schools in all vocal and instrumental programs. As an advocate for every student musician in the Great Valley School District, GVMPA's primary function is to provide funds for musical instruments, uniforms, formalwear, and other equipment, to fulfill needs that fall outside the GVSD music department's regular operating budget.

In addition, GVMPA annually awards scholarships to deserving graduating seniors.

Sponsorship Opportunities

The GVMPA needs community support for our students and programs. In order to help ensure their continued growth and success, and to further establish our district as an extraordinary environment to explore, experience and enjoy the musical arts, we have created a Sponsorship Program. We invite all members of the community to participate. Tax deductible sponsorships are available for both individuals and families as well as businesses and corporations. For more information, please visit www.gvmpa.org.

The Great Valley Music Parents Association, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) charitable organization. Donations are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law.
